

#SLF19: Thursday September 26th 2019
Recognising Wider Learning and Achievement
Some useful links

Profiling Skills and Achievements in the Context of Career Education

Learning resource and associated guidance from education Scotland that helps teachers and practitioners to implement profiling in the context of Developing the Young Workforce, building on existing practice. <https://education.gov.scot/improvement/practice-exemplars/dyw47-profiling-skills-and-achievements-in-the-context-of-career-education>

The Awards Network: The national network of youth awards providers in Scotland. This site has great video case studies and lots of info about the range of awards available and how to sign up to the 'Awards Aware' scheme. <https://www.awardsnetwork.org>

My World of Work - Skills Tool

A tool to encourage young people to learn more about their skills, explore their options and find the career that's right for them. <https://www.myworldofwork.co.uk/my-career-options>

Profiling employability skills and wider achievement - Kingussie High School: More info on the Kingussie approach on the National Improvement Hub.

<https://education.gov.scot/improvement/practice-exemplars/Profiling%20employability%20skills%20and%20wider%20achievement%20-%20Kingussie%20High%20School>

Recommendation 1 of The Learner Journey Review, includes a commitment for every young person to have the opportunity to develop a personal statement that captures the range of their formal and informal learning achievements. <https://www.gov.scot/publications/15-24-learner-journey-review-9781788518741>

If you can't wait for the learning resource then you can check out some of the presentations from the national working group by searching the Education Scotland YouTube Channel. <https://www.youtube.com/user/educationscotland/videos>

The Link Magazine: Autumn 2019 edition - YouthLink Scotland

Current examples of youth work and school partnerships and an interview with Gayle Gorman about the role of youth work in helping to close the attainment gap. <https://www.youthlinkscotland.org/media/3893/the-link-autumn-2019-aw-lr.pdf>

Please get in touch! If you want to find out more about the work of the national working group on recognising wider learning and achievement, then contact:

klaus.meyer@educationscotland.gov.uk or john.galt@educationscotland.gov.scot